

Dear donors, supporters and helpers,

Before the summer monsoon in the Himalayas, our team was again on the road in the northern Gorkha region. Besides the construction site in Khorlabesi we also visited some of our schools.

Great gratitude in the villages

The residents in Patalekharka, Kashigaon and Hulchuk are very appreciative of the school buildings built by Earth C-Air. We received a very warm welcome everywhere in the mountain villages.

Education is very groundbreaking, keep in mind that in Nepal more than half of the population still lives informally and is illiterate.

The decision to build several schools after the earthquake was right and has been well worth it.

Respectful encounters

Providing large-scale, meaningful and sustainable aid remains our goal.

The friendly people in the mountain settlements are brave and shy, our assistance is always very much appreciated.

We also seem to succeed in working very cooperatively with the government. This factor is very essential in a developing country for the projects to be successful in the long run.

Progress in hospital construction

The interior construction is in full swing. The floors have already been laid in all the interior rooms. The carpentry work is also finished.

It is planned to install the medical equipment in all four building blocks next November.

We are motivated and very confident that the first patients can be cared for "step by step" in Khorlabesi next spring.

Thank you very much for the trust you have placed in us over the years and for any kind of valuable support and commitments.

Namaste und vielen Dank! Merci! Grazie! Thank you!
